St. John's Mercy Medical Group Welcomes New Family Medicine Physician to St. Peters

Family medicine physician, Chad Voges, M.D., has joined St. John's Mercy Medical Group and Piper Hill Family Medicine, located at 107 Piper Hill Drive in St. Peters, Mo., replacing Dr. Daniel Parker, who relocated out of town.

Dr. Voges obtained his medical degree at the University of Illinois – Chicago in 1999 and completed his family medicine residency at Memorial Hospital in South Bend, Ind., in 2002. He is board certified in family medicine and a member of the American Association of Family Practice and the American Medical Association with special interests in dermatology, orthopedics and women's health. He has also worked as a provider for a community breast and cervical cancer prevention program and is on staff at St. John's Mercy Medical Center.

When not practicing medicine, Dr. Voges can be found on the race track: he has been involved in National Hot Rod Association drag racing since 1995, winning his first national title in 2005 and finishing 14th in national points in 2006. Currently, he drives a 2007 Bantam Roadster capable of speeds near 170 miles per hour.

St. John's Mercy Medical Group is a physician-governed group practice affiliated with St. John's Mercy. SJMMG consists of 155 board-certified and board-eligible primary care and specialty physicians and 27 nurse practitioners, practicing in 65 locations throughout the St. Louis metropolitan area.
